The action of Major Micah Jenkins in refusing to accept the sword which was to have been presented to him by President Roosevelt, upon the invitation of Col. Tillman, will be commended throughout the State. As a soldier and as a gentleman he could not have done otherwise. He was a captain under Col. Roosevelt in the battle where he displayed such conspicuous courage as to call forth from his chief and friend the words engraved upon the scabbard of the sword, which words contributed more than any other one thing towards bringing his bravery before the people of this country, and that man, his former chief, is now President of the United States and commander-inchief of its armies. He took the right course and his action was what was expected of him by the people of South Carolina. Col. Tillman has received a just rebuke for an indignity offered the President, and Major Jenkins has vindicated the State by his action in refusing to accept the sword.

The sword presentation matter has been made a great deal more of than it deserved. It was a private matter between those who were to give the sword and Maj. Jenkins. Col. Jas. II. Tillman had no authority to act in this matter in the capacity of Lieutenant Governor. If he desired to withdraw the invitation extended to President Roosevelt to present the sword to Maj. Jenkins that was a matter between him and the others who purchased it and the State had nothing whatever to do with it. But by sending the telegram to Presinent Roosevelt in his official capacity as a state officer it brought the State in at least to those who do not understand the circumstances. We hope the incident is closed. Of course President Roosevelt will not deliver the sword and Maj. Jenkins has now declined to accept it.

Gov. McSweeney is to be commended for his prompt action in filling the vacancy in the Auditor's office caused by the death of Auditor Cromer. He has also done the right thing in appointing young Mr. William Wallace Cromer, the son of the former Auditor, and we say this without any disparagement of the claims of the other applicants or of their fitness for the position. The young man has been doing the work of the office during the illness of his father and is famaliar with the details of the work and is fully competent to discharge the daties of the office. We feel sure he will make an efficient and an obliging official. His appointment will meet the approval of the people of the county.

In the death of Wallace Calhoun Cromer the county has lost an excellent citizen and an efficient and rains taking official. He was yet in the prime of life and in the ordinary course of humanity should have had many more years of useful service to his county ordered otherwise. He leaves as a heritage to his family an honorable record and a useful life.

SENATOR TILLMAN TO SENATOR PLATT.

Advises that it Wouldn't be Proper for the President to Visit Charleston.

New York, March 2 .- The Times will say today:

Senator B. R. Tillman of South Carolina, was a caller on Senator Platt at the Fifth Avenue hotel yesterday (Sat-

The talk lasted over half an hour. One of the principal topics of conversation was the proposed visit of President Roosevelt to the Charleston exposition.

Senator Tillman is said to have been very explicit in his assertion that it would not be politic for President Roosevelt to make a visit to South Carolina owing to the State of public feeling there over the McLaurin-Tillman incident and the withdrawal of President Roosevelt's invitation to the senator to meet Prince Henry at dinner at the White House which was followed by the telegram from Lieut. Gov. Tillman of South Carolina cancelling the invitation to the President to present a sword to Major Micah J. Jenkins. Senator Platt when asked about the conversation said:

"I have had a talk with Senator Tillman. The facts which have been brought to my attention will be laid before Roosevelt. I shall advise the President not to go to Charleston."

Senator Platt declined to discuss the matter further.

WHAT THE GOVERNOR SAYS OF THE

PLATT STATEMENT. [The State, 3d.]

The telegram from New York from the Associated Press yesterday morning that Senator Platt of New York, in consequence of an interview with Senator Tillman, had advised the president not to visit the Charleston exposition, was read with amusement yesterday by that Senator Tillman could have made such a statement as has been quoted.

"There is no doubt that our people were aggreived at the Booker Washing ton incident, but since that occurrated TELLS HIM THE STORE IS NO WISE a number of prominent statesmen have accepted invitations and most of the n have dined with the president; and while South Carolina could never tolerate anything of this kind for the rea son that they do not believe in social equality, as far as the visit of the pres ident to this State is concerned | I | feel suggestion of violence would be stamped out promptly by the people, and if necessary, by the officials of the State. the spirit of anarchy, and any attempt to insult the chief executive of this great American country would be conden ned and put down here in the Palmetto State as readily as it would in any of the eastern States. It would be cowardly and particularly as a result of political events. In this instance there is nothing to warrant the expectation of such trouble. We have had State issues more trying and dangerous without trouble resulting, I am satisfied that our president could go to Charleston and return to Washington with the knowledge that he had received a most cordial reception ever given one occupying his position

This morning at 1:10 o'clock the governor recived the following from one of the New York papers:

"Senator Platt now says that the man who called upon him was a New York merchant with a South Carolina connection, and the inference is that they warned the president through Platt on advices from their South Carolina connections. Senator Tillman did not mention the matter to Senator Platt. We deem it advisable to advise you of true facts."

SENATOR THLEMAN DENIES THE REPORT.

New York, Feb. 3.-The Times to day will say: Senator Tillman of South Carolina, who was in the city last (Sun day) night, ridicaled the idea that President Roosevelt would invite danger in the event of his going to Charleston. To a New York Times reporter he declared that there was no truth in the statement published vesterday that he had called on Senator Platt, at and State and to his family. But it was the Fifth Avenue Hotel on Saturday not to go to South Carolina.

"I did not reach New York until o'clock this afternoon," said he. "Conequently I was not in New York yesterday. I did not therefore see Senator Platt, nor do I intend to see him. Do you think the president would

"To you think the president would be in danger of his life if he visits Charleston?" was asked. "Oh, mercy, no," the senator re-plied. "I am satisfied he would be reated with the utmost courtesy." The Times will also say Senator Platt denies having received a call from Sonator Tillman.

[The State, 12th.] The Tillman Ro sevelt incident is still being much talked of and is deplored on take that I voice the sentiment of every in- every side because of the injury it is caltelligent man and citizen that not a sin- culated to do the State and the Charlesgle protest will be heard, and that any ton Exposition. Tillman, withdrawing the request for you to present of the South Carolina West Indian and the sword to Maj. Micah Jenkirs, but as undue importance and publicity have been attached to it. I beg to say that the telegram sent you was not authorzed by the State, and that the lieutenant governor did not speak officially for the State or the people in his action. His telegram to you was purely a per squal matter, and neither the State nor the people should be held responsible in any way for his attitude.

M B. McSweeney,

Governor. In the past 24 hours telegrams from all parts of the country have been pouring into Columbia and the governor has gotten a number. When the governor finally got the following from a leading | paper of the northwest, he immediately wired an emphatic expression, telegram quoted:

"Will you kindly wire your position regarding the action of Lient. Gov. Tillman in withdrawing the invitation to President Roosevelt. We hesitate to print the statement we have received that you endorse it unless you person ally authorize it."

Despite all efforts yesterday to ascertain the names of the subscribers to the Jenkins' sword, it was impossible to secure the list. Those who are known do not care to be quoted in connection with the matter. It may be stated, however, that none have yet been found who are willing to say that they authorized Col. Tillman to send the tele-

PRESIDENT WIRES HIS APPRECIATION.

[The State, 2nd.] There were two new matters in the Jenkins-Tillman-Roosevelt incident ye erday. The most important perhaps was the receipt of the following telegram in the afternoon by the gov-

White House. Washington, D. C., March 1, 1902 To Gov. M. B. McSweeney, Columbia, Pray a your courteous telegram, which I appreciate. Theodore Roosevelt.

During the forenoon the news reached the city that Maj. Micah Jenkins had declined to accept the sword under the circumstances. This created no surprise here, for such action on the part of the gallant soldier had been expected by his friends. His action is exactly what was expected of him.

The sword is in Columbia still at the Carolina National bank. Thus fac it is impossible to obtain the complete list of the subscribers, but The State has it on reliable authority that Senator Tillman, Col. Jones, Col. Tillman, Col. Prost and Representative J. E. Jarnigan were among them. The sword it is said cost between $65 and $85, and upon it are engraved expressions of the president in regard to Micah Jen-

"This is a mistake. Lieut Gov. Tillman did not ask me for any contribution for the Jenkins sword fund, nor was I asked by any one else to contribute to that fund.'

A Severe Cold For Three Months

The following letter from A. J. Nusbaum, of Batesville, Ind., tells its own story. "I suffered for three months with a severe cold. A druggist prepar ed me some medicine, and a physician prescribed for me, yet I did not improve. I then tried Foley's Honey and Tar, and eight doses cured me." Refuse substitutes. Gilder & Weeks.

Statesmen are by no means always dip-lomats. Steering the ship of state and steering bunco are quite different things.

Dangers of Phenmonia

A cold at this time if neglected is lia those familiar with present conditions in this State. The telegram seems to have created a considerable stir at the North.

In response to telegrams from leading New York newspapers last night Governor McSweeney said:
